

August 2005, Volume 3, Number 8
A Celebration of Austin's Bats
Emily Young

and Sunday) at the bridge in downtown Austin.

Roadstar Productions, which is producing this celebration of the famous bridge bat colony, will donate a portion of the proceeds to Bat Conservation International.

About 150 booths are expected at the outdoor site. They'll include lots of activities and educational displays for kids and families, as well as a variety of food and an array of products by professional artisans. The live music program will include for almost every taste.

Roadstar Productions and some of Austin's finest chefs are teaming up for a Bat Breakfast on the Bridge from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. Sunday (September 4) to welcome the bats back to the bridge after their night of feasting on all sorts of pesky insects.

Festival hours are 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday.

Links:

www.roadstarproductions.com

The True Story of Bats

All articles in this issue:

▶ Seminoles Switch to Winter Homes

Little is known about the winter roosting habits of most North American forest bats. Most bat research in temperate climates is ...

▶ Evicting Historic Bats

One of the world's most historic bat colonies â€“ little brown myotis that revealed their unique roosting system to pioneering ...

▶ A Celebration of Austin's Bats

BATFEST is coming to Austin, Texas, complete with food, music, arts and crafts â€“ and 1.5 million free-tailed bats ...