Bat Documentary Delayed

A definite air date for the long-awaited documentary, "The Secret World of Bats," has not yet been scheduled. CBS currently does not expect the program to air before early 1992 in the United States, though cancellation of new programs may result in an available time slot this fall.

Filmed for CBS television by Survival Anglia, the one-hour documentary features bats of the world and the work of BCI. The documentary has already aired throughout Europe and Australia with excellent viewership and reviews.

We'll keep members posted.
