

The Bat

by Josiah Kieselbach

The ghost-like glide a flight
Through the ever dark'ning night
With wings of silk and ears of steel
The mighty bug-eater eats his meal
Keeping us safe from deadly virus
Let us remember the bat, which fights for us.

Last Updated: Friday, 07 November 2008